

Our work on your behalf

It is one of our greatest strengths that we can bring together local community politicians, interest groups, experts and residents from local administrative communities or districts as partners, enabling them to work together as a team and thus to achieve results, as we give our expert advice on the basis of specialist competence and qualified experience for communal conception and planning. Our methods create an enormous wealth of ideas, improve the feeling of responsibility and encourage more active personal involvement.

What do we offer you?

Procedures for village renovation, rural development, integrated rural development, communal development plans, competitions or local community infrastructure planning are all opportunities for us to consider future developments in our local area and to conceive harmonious policies for the future.

We offer you customized seminars managed and presented by experts in the field. Specific subject areas are as follows:

- Intercommunity co-operation
- Social and building plan developments
- Consequences of demographic changes
- Generations living together
- Village, countryside, agriculture
- Location marketing and local supply
- Local history and heritage conservation
- Fundamentals of facilitation, communication and project management

Excursions

Experience from examples gained in practice can certainly convey impulses for our own area much better than just theory. We can assist you in the implementation of successful projects and offer examples which, in terms of procedure, content and experience value, can actually be implemented.
